BLENKO

GLASS COMPANY
HANDMADE IN AMERICA

Exquisite color, skilled craftsman, and imaginative designs have made Blenko famous in the time-honored craft of hand-blown glass. Over the years, talented designers have developed contemporary new designs that continue to be hand-blown in our factory. The uniqueness of hand-blown glass cannot be compared to that of machine formed glass: a process which produces items all exactly alike but without personality. Because our glass is made in small batches and our processes are performed by hand, you can be sure that each piece is an individual work of art.

When glass has been hand-blown it is common to observe small air bubbles, lines, or individual marks left by our craftsmen. These are not flaws, but rather the distinctive nature of the hand-blown process, which identify and magnify the distinctiveness of each piece of glass. In a world of increasing automation and standardization, we at Blenko pride ourselves in paying particular attention to the forms and designs, which stay true to the tradition of hand-blown glass. For over 100 years Blenko has maintained the tradition of hand-made glass. We welcome you to become a part of our tradition.

These pieces are an encore that pays homage to memorable 50's and 60's designs, yet they also push the ideas and forms into the future. Optimistic, fun, with colors that POP, Bravo! also celebrates life NOW with hot new colors and cool new forms. Voluptuous and curved or svelte and stretched, form and function unite in this juicy, young line. Bravo!

The romance of these Mediterranean inspired shapes will grace any setting with an intimate conversation between function and form. Vases that pout for flowers to hug and pitchers that long to pour. These shapes want to be used and don't mind saying so.
